Compliance with New York State Law - Senate Bill (SB) S439A

The state of New York recently signed into law a bill that requires manufacturers or other persons that sell firefighting personal protective equipment (PPE) to provide written notice if the firefighting PPE contains perfluoralkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) and the “reason PFAS chemicals are added to the equipment.” In compliance with the requirements of SB S439A, Honeywell First Responder Products is providing the following information for Honeywell First Responder firefighting PPE.

The New York law defines firefighting PPE as “any clothing designed, intended, or marketed to be worn by firefighting personnel in the performance of their duties, designed with the intent for the use in firefighting and rescue activities, including jackets, pants, shoes, gloves, helmets, and respiratory equipment.”

Based on the information provided by our suppliers, PFAS is used in component parts in technical fabrics products for water repellency and to meet structural fire-fighting gear performance standards, such as NFPA 1971 (Standard on Protective Ensembles for Structural Fire Fighting and Proximity Fire Fighting) in the following Honeywell First Responder Products listed in Annex A (attached).

Under the New York law, beginning on March 23, 2020, a manufacturer or other person that sells firefighting PPE must provide written notice to the purchaser at the time of sale if the firefighting PPE contains PFAS, and must retain the notice and associated sales documentation on file for at least three years from the date of the transaction.

This memorandum shall serve as Honeywell Safety Products’ written notice for purposes of complying with the New York law.
