

Colorado State Law: C.R.S. § 25-5-1305

Section 25-5-1305 of the Colorado Revised Statutes (the “Colorado Law”) requires a manufacturer or other person that sells firefighting personal protective equipment (PPE) to provide written notice to the purchaser at the time of sale if the firefighting PPE contains intentionally added PFAS chemicals.

Colorado law defines firefighting PPE as “any clothing, including jackets, pants, shoes, gloves, helmets, and respiratory equipment, designed, intended, or marketed to be worn by firefighting personnel in the performance of their duties.”

In compliance with the Colorado Law, Honeywell Safety Products is providing the following information regarding Honeywell First Responder Products (HFRP) firefighting PPE.

Based on information provided by our suppliers, HFRP understands that certain component parts of the HFRP products listed in Annex A contain intentionally added PFAS chemicals. These component parts are technical fabrics that use PFAS chemicals to provide water repellency and to meet performance standards for firefighting PPE.

Under the Colorado Law, the seller and the purchaser of the firefighting PPE must retain the written notice for at least three years from the date of sale. Upon the request of the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment, the seller or purchaser must furnish to it the notice or copies of the notice and associated sales documentation within sixty days.

This memorandum shall serve as Honeywell Safety Products’ written notice for purposes of complying with the Colorado Law.
